AND PERSONAL

Dear friends, you will see the anticipation
 going on Tuesday at night and very early in the morning
 as we all look up to the excitement.
 Starting right into activities, there is the school spirit to build,
 "Hawkeye", starting the theme song and with the spirit of the school and what filled
 every student's weekend.
 In the end the weekend
 has provided enough
 time for the activities that they had wanted for since Monday.

STUDENT LIFE

SUMMERS

A favorite summertime activity — goafing around!!

During the summer months Jeff Stamper, Andrew Menkart and Berk Shervin won the Sears Cup North American Junior Sailing Championship.

During the summer many bicentennial flags were evident!!

Leslie McArthur and Danna Kutschera attend Masonnuten Va. State Orchestra Camp during their summer vacation.

Magazine Drive

Maywood pleads with the student body to go out and SELL.

The magazine drive was the most successful ever with approximately $16,000 made in sales. The drive was kicked off with an assembly to explain selling procedures. Film clips from American Graffiti were shown as motivation to "get out and sell!". All students who sold two or more subscriptions were allowed to skip classes and watch the movie. A duel had been arranged between the Fighting Lancers and West Springfield to see who could outsell the other. Lee won, of course.

Mock Elections

The Social Studies department held a mock presidential election this year to find out how Lee High students would vote if they could. The results were overwhelmingly in favor of President Ford unlike the actual election results. Teachers remarked that students previously have always voted conservatively so that this outcome was not surprising.

The seniors took a big interest in the Mock Elections.

Moureen Gollagher and Chris Sleigh, two cowgirls, roam the halls during lunch.

Two redskins, Sharon Pietzyk and Debbie Fuller, room through the cafeteria on Thursday of Homecoming week.

An exhausted cowgirl catches some shut-eye between classes.

The Junior Hall after Friday's excitement before the big game.

The Annual Bonfire on Oct. 26 was one of the many Homecoming Week activities.

"The Wild, Wild West" was the homecoming theme and many activities of a western flavor took place. The halls were decorated by their respective classes, and students dressed as cowboys, Indians and other characters one might meet on the wide prairie. Everyone had a fun week leading up to the football game, even the faculty, though they had a hard time keeping their classes' attention on the subject at hand.

Powderpuff

The powderpuff official, Mr. Cockey, explains that there is no such thing as a free throw in football.

What's the biggest football rivalry in town? The Redskins and Cowboys you say? Wrong! It's the senior girls against the junior girls in their annual Powder puff Game.

With some of the sexiest cheerleaders this side of the Potomac romping on the sidelines, the Seniors fought with all their might but to no avail. The Juniors all the while kept their furious attitude while rolling to a 28-16 upset victory.

The huge crowd was on its feet for practically every play (mainly because they couldn't see over the sidelines), while partisan spectators cheered on their sides with cries of "Kill the ref", or "Did you see that cheerleader bounce?"

The juniors listen while their quarterback, Solly Campbell, explains the next play.

Sharon Pietzyk, Cothy Jellison and Mollorie Wiemonn jump for joy after the seniors make their first touchdown.

Teddy Martin, head cheerleader for the juniors, brings his squad over for a friendly hello cheer.

Follies

Gountlet tries to show how a western football team prepares for a game.

Donno Shonohon, a Keyette member, imitates Elton John in their skit.

One of the girls' service clubs imitate the football team while listening to Debbie West sing.

Lancer-Tri-Hi-Y sings out with great enthusiasm while competing for first place.

The "Old West" Follies were held on Oct. 27 and consisted of imaginative skits by all the service clubs. Lancer-Tri-Hi-Y came in first. They portrayed the football players as cowboys and sang verses that had to do with them and their characteristics. Second place went to Civettes and third to Lancer-Hi-Y. All the clubs did a good job and everyone who went was given a fun evening of great entertainment.

Homecoming Night

Seniors Attendants Ronnie and Carol are driven around the track for the last time.

The Senior Class, with the help of their class symbol the pink panther, wins first place.

Carla Cushman, escorted by her father, begins her way across the field.

Mr. Masters congratulates Jackie after she was announced Homecoming Queen for 1976-77.

Sadie Hawkins

"Rainbow," the lively entertainment, enjoys performing.

Two typical "hill billy" couples are waiting to see Marrying Sam at Sadie Hawkins.

The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, sponsored by Keyette and Key Clubs, was quite a success. Everyone dressed up and Marry'n Sam married all the couples. Bill Murphy and Michelle Maigret reigned as king and queen over the activities. The Cider Drinking Contest was won by Brian Lenhoff.

Bloodmobile

Many brave students donate their blood.

Giving blood is a rewarding gift after it's all over.

The library is a busy place for the Red Cross.

The annual Red Cross Bloodmobile was one of Lee's more important contributions to the Springfield community. The blood was distributed to hospitals where it is used for seriously ill people and accident victims. The school has always given good support to this program and hopes to continue. In November, 82 units were donated by students and faculty members.

HMS Pinafore

Capt. Corcoran realizes that his daughter is in love with a lowly sailor.

Careful make-up enhances the atmosphere of the play

Cathy Hess and Brian Masiar sing a love song.

The entire cast joins in for the final chorus.

Jeff Hardin is made up for a performance.

Some very talented students of Robert E. Lee put on the musical hit, Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore. The play was one of the major fund raising activities that Lee's choral department held. All funds went towards their Guatemala trip in January of '77. Dr. James Pfohl, the choral director at Lee was musical director for the play, and Miss Worshom, the drama director. Many members of the faculty and student body were very involved in putting together H.M.S. Pinafore.

The main cast:

Sir Joseph Porter K.C.B. — John Cook
 Captain Corcoran — Jeff Hardin
 Ralph Rockstraw — Brian Mosior
 Dick Deadeye — David Cloniger
 Bill Bobstay — Andy Derendinger
 Bob Becket — Mark Barget
 Josephine — Kathy Hess
 Cousin Hebe — Lori Hartman
 Little Buttercup — Leslie Voegler

Dick Deadeye threatens Sir Porter.

Senior-Faculty Basketball

Jim Young jumps higher than his faculty opponent, Mr. Kight.

Brion runs down the court to get two points for the senior team.

Members of the Senior and Faculty teams fight for the ball.

The Seniors vs. Faculty Basketball game offered students a chance to see their favorite teachers trounced on by the seniors. The final score was 45 to 35 (with the help of the scorekeeper) in favor of the seniors in a clear victory. Half-time activities included a volleyball game between the women teachers and senior girls. Again, the teachers floundered much to the delight of the student body. What a way to kick off Thanksgiving vacation!

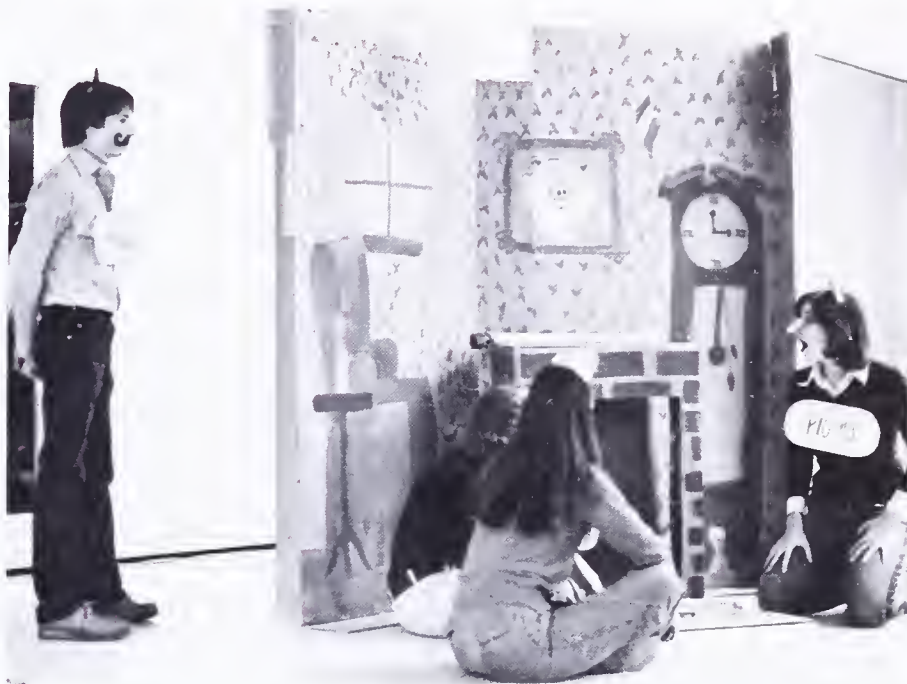

The jump ball was the start of the biggest game of the year between the faculty men and senior boys.

International Dinner

Mrs. Collin and Mrs. Piozzo discuss the success of the International Dinner.

Some French foreign language students act out the play "The Three Little Pigs".

Members of the band help contribute to the entertainment of the International Dinner.

Scott Forbes wondering what he really ate.

Mrs. Piozzo and students provide musical entertainment for the international dinner.

The International Dinner drew a crowd of hungry people interested in foods from other countries. Everyone brought a different dish, and a good variety was available. The highlight of the evening was the international entertainment. The children's story, "The Three Little Pigs", was performed in French, German and Spanish. A German band played, can-can girls danced, and a musical group sang Christmas songs in different languages.

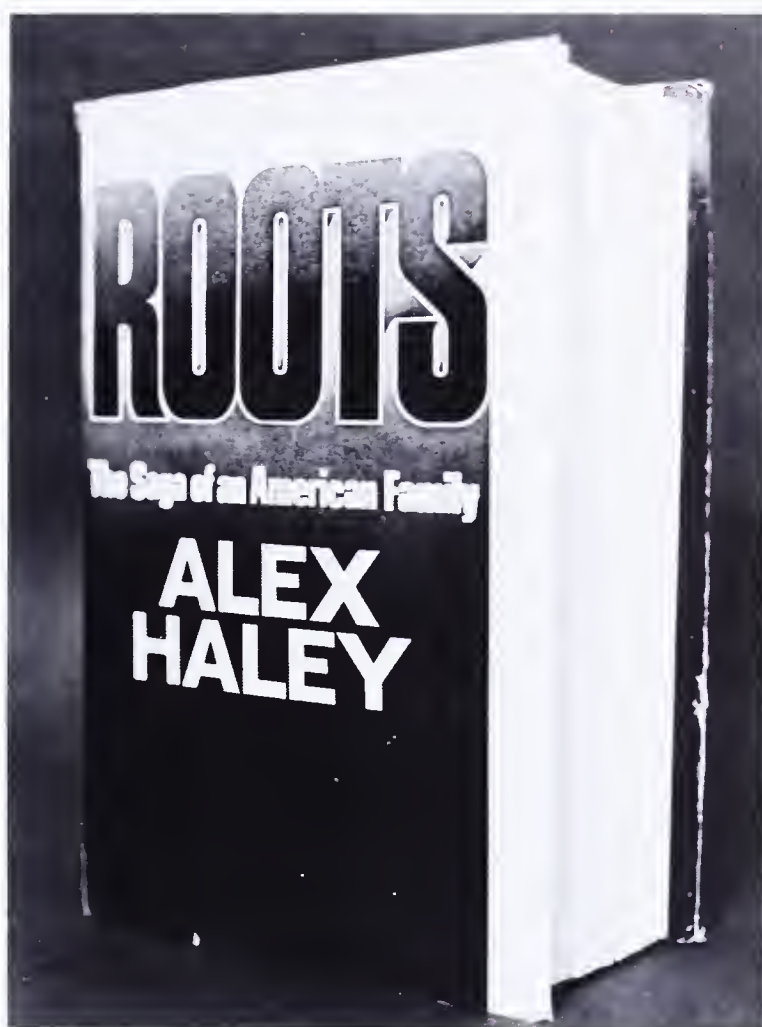

WINTER

ROOTS

Roots, by Alex Haley, was the most talked about novel of this year. The television serialization of it brought to the surface a subject that most Americans would rather not discuss, that of slavery. The editorial pages of major newspapers become battlegrounds upon which the pros and cons of the issue were fought. The book was the topic of most television and radio talk shows as it was also in impromptu classroom discussions. A renewed interest in genealogy has caused the Library of Congress and local courthouses to be inundated with requests for information from people interested in tracing their ancestry.

This book is one of the all time best sellers.

Energy Crisis

This past winter has been the coldest year on record. As a result, a shortage of natural gas quickly became apparent. Veeco began cutting power on a rotating basis which allowed the students at Lee to be released from school two hours early on one day. Governor Godwin drastically cut the hours of business to only forty a week. Lee students had their work hours cut and did not have any place to shop or to socialize. Schools using natural gas were closed for several days, though good ole Robert E. Lee uses oil for heat. It was interesting to note that during the height of the crisis, we had our windows open to avoid suffocation!

Typical notices like this one were seen throughout Springfield during the fuel shortage.

Guatemala

The ruins from the earthquake in Antigua provide an interesting setting for a performance

Many activities had been planned including a lecture at the Conservatory

On January 31, the Robert E. Lee Chorus took off from Dulles airport on their way to Guatemala to sing at a benefit for the victims of the earthquake last year. They stayed at the Hotel Posada de Don Rodrigo in Antigua where they listened to theirimba bands during the evening. An exciting schedule of sight-seeing and shopping had been set up for the chorus, but the high points of their visit were the two performances. They sang at the Guatemalan National Theatre and were well received by the audiences.

The chorus arrived at the Guatemalan Airport to an explosion of color.

Dr. Pfahl directs the performance of the National Conservatory of Music.

It's Academic

On January 8, the Lee It's Academic Team, sponsored by Mrs. Lelah Mellion, competed at the WRC-TV 4 studios against Richard Montgomery and McKinley High Schools. Lee was just edged out of the win by Richard Montgomery who had earned 500 points to Lee's 475. McKinley High School stumbled to the finish with only 270 points.

This year's team consisted of captain Jeff Hardin, Dave Compton, and Joe Hoffman. Jeff Bernstein served as the alternate.

Ski Trip

Mollorie Wiemann (Boofie) waits in the lobby of the hotel to get her room assignment so she can start for the slopes

"Such Style!"

A crazy bunch of Seniors inflicted with snow-fever.

Early on the morning of January 20 eighty-two students piled on D.C. Transit buses and headed for Seven Springs, Pa. The weather was perfect — snow, snow and more snow. The beginners found themselves sprawling in the white stuff while aspiring experts spent their time waiting in lift lines. Students from all over Fairfax County filled the lodge and had a good time both on and off the slopes.

The Spaghetti Dinner sponsored by the Senior Class was held on Jan. 27. The cafeteria was transformed into an Italian café, with checkered tablecloths and dripping candles. The evening started off with entertainment consisting of Jackie Mosters doing a little "boogie", Mike Talton playing Banjo music, Jo Mosters and Joe Sollors demonstrating "Disco", and Sue Gionokoris, Jeannie Simon, Debi Newcomb and Koren Swindell doing a dance routine. All in all it was a most enjoyable evening and one that will be well remembered by all who participated.

The judges now find out what really goes on in the Mr. Lancer contest.

The Mr. Lancer Contest, sponsored by Lancer Tri-Hi-Y and the Senior Closs was held on February 9. Emceed by Anne Coussin, the contest started with a dance number performed by all the competitors, followed by skits. The sophmores' skit, "Middlemon," about a fictitious fellow named Mel Middle, and the juniors' was "Connibolism and Other Gross Things." A combined closs effort was "The Wong Show." The seniors took first prize for their "Speicol Olympics." Brant Edwards was awarded the title of "Mr. Legs," Pot Honnigon was awarded Best Costume, and Paul Breidenboch was named Mr. Congeniality. A special Judges' Award was given to Peter Popeck. To the delight of the audience, Paul Breindenbach was crowned the Mr. Lancer of 1977.

At Robert E. Lee each year it has become traditional to let the seniors take over all the classes and duties of the faculty and staff. This year was no exception as students arrived to find their regular instructors replaced by these oddly well-dressed "teachers." The principal's conference room was changed into an executive lunchroom as the hard-working administrators retired for the afternoon. The day was a rewarding experience for all as the seniors discovered how much work goes into teaching the "sweathogs."

Senior Calendar

The class of '77 had long awaited their senior year, and when it finally arrived, the class officers began the planning for a successful year. The seniors began the year by winning many events during homecoming week. Their spirit continued throughout the year with a ski trip, a raffle, sock hops, dress-up day, and a class trip. Everything led up to the big night when the class of '77 would join the many classes of alumni of Robert E. Lee High School.

Sept. 3- Sock Hop
Dec. 17- Sock Hop
Dec. 22- Senior Dress-Up Day
Dec. 22- Christmas Caroling
Jan. 13- Senior Ski Trip
Mar. 3- Senior Administration Day

May 1- Senior Reception
May 23- Senior Field Day
May 28- Senior Prom

The Sly Guy

The class of '77 chose the pink panther as their class symbol. The skinny figure was seen decorating all senior posters, not to mention the senior lounge. A huge full length portrait of the panther covered one wall with his tail encircling the entire room to form a '77 above his head. His mark was everywhere including the seats in the lounge's ladies and gents rooms. Debbie Fuller assisted by the other class officers created the Pink Panther's image for all senior functions. Every member of the senior class will remember him as they carry his picture engraved on their class card.

Smile

Just before we began our Senior year, all students at Lee received a telephone call giving them a designated date to have their pictures taken for their student ID. The first thing that went through everyone's mind is "what the heck is a student ID?" When our appointment finally came, we either took off work or left the pool for a while to hear Mr. Baumgartner say "cheese." We got a student ID which was supposed to be our official pass to enter all school sponsored activities in spite of the fact that the pictures didn't look like us. Oh, well, next year it's college ID's.

Senior Sweep

In keeping with the theme of the "Wild West" the class of '77 took first place with their hall decorations which featured life-size replicas of the senior members of the varsity football team. Showing the kind of enthusiasm which is rarely seen in seniors, they took first place for having the largest number of people dress-up on their specific day. The "pep pole", a five foot pep-stick, was easily won by the seniors who not only had the largest number of "spirit-links" but yelled and cheered the most at the pep rally. The senior float, depicting the Pink Panther in front of his tepee with a tiger skin stretched out in the background, made the string of victories complete. The week would have been perfect if only the Lancers had come out on top of the 12-13 homecoming game score.

The True Test

If you are planning to go to college next year, you certainly had to live through the ordeal of taking the SAT's and Achievement tests. No college bound senior was exempt from this, and the anxieties of waiting six long weeks for the results to come back were shared by all. Your life hung on these scores for months. You constantly worried about whether or not they were good enough to satisfy the admission officer of the college of your choice and how they compared with those scores of the others that applied. Many had to go through this more than once because the better your scores, the better your chances were.

Getting Ready

For those seniors who will be going to college next year the fall was spent worrying over whether or not they would be accepted to the college of their choice. There were many things which had to be done in order to send these forms out to the colleges with all the right answers in the correct blanks on time. First off your college board scores had to be good enough, then you had to get the correct application and fill it out, and the next step was to decide what you wanted to include and what you did not. After that you had to put your answers in some sort of logical order with the correct grammar. Ugh!! The last step came in sending the application to the college. You took it to your guidance counselor, and if you had all the necessary information, and your activity sheet was filled out, the whole thing was simple. If you had the transcript filled out incorrectly . . .

A Different Touch

Presidents come and presidents go, but the school won't be the same after Maywood Wallace. His year at Lee as student body president proved that not only the academically superior students become student body president. In fulfilling his duties of making the daily announcements and emceeing the pep rallies, Maywood never seemed to be an extension of the administration. It was with extreme reluctance that he would say, "O.K., now return to your second period class" at the end of a rousing pep rally.

Maywood was totally individual. His trademark attire of jeans, a T-shirt, and sneakers, along with his quick-witted sense of humor, set him apart from the crowd. At Boy's State, prior to his senior year, he narrowly lost the nomination for governor in spite of the fact that he was a forceful liberal in a dominantly conservative group.

Think Snow

Everyone had spent at least one muggy June day in school making up a snow day prior to their senior year. This year was different, however; seniors looked forward to snow days knowing that they would not have to make them up. Each teacher was plagued with seniors constantly predicting that school would be called off because of snow. Seniors were heart-broken when snow was forecasted but never came. Many times the predicted snow would turn to sleet, and all hopes would be shattered. Practically every senior spent some part of each day praying for snow. When the snow finally did come, all seniors waited with anticipation for Mr. Jackson's dismissal of school.

Gimme a Pinch

The "chew" fad turned into a near-epidemic at Lee High School. It spread from the athletic fields into the halls and classrooms. Everywhere you looked there was some guy with a giant wad bulging in the side of his mouth. The baseball players and their coaches weren't the only ones who could be seen "chewin'". Everyone from the seniors right down to the freshman "chewed". To many the habit was "mighty relaxin'" while many found it a less than desirable trait. It took a strong stomach to tolerate the stuff and an even stronger one to put up with someone who did.

Breaker 1-9

Everywhere you looked there was someone with a CB (citizen's band) radio. In stores, on television, and in magazine ads the thing to have was a "CB". They were easy to install and weren't too expensive to own. Having a CB in your car became as standard as having a radio and an 8-track player. They were stolen as often too. Many people had base stations in their homes which allowed them to talk to even more of their "Good Buddies". The CB-ers had a language of their own where a state policeman was a "smokey" and when he set up one of his great speed traps he was "taking pictures." You didn't use your real name when talking to your "Good Buddies", either. You had a "handle" that they called you such as "Chestnut", "Slow Motion", "Rubber Duckie", and "Banehead". With your CB the road was "clean and green" and you could "keep on trucking" without worrying about the nice policemen bothering you.

The Aftermath

The class of '77 had diverse plans for the future after graduation. The majority said that they wanted to continue their education either at a community college, a four year college, or a vocational school. Others intended to start out on their own in the business world. What will you do you when you graduate?

"Go to U. Va. — I hope."

"Work in a garage."

"Who me?"

"Sit around and see what happens."

"Go to law school."

Do you have any idea what you'll be doing ten years from now?

"Have a gold badge from Penny's"

"Be real rich."

"Who knows?"

"Who cares?"

The Begining of the End

The first event that takes place in the complicated procedure of graduat- ing is ordering announcements. For some seniors filling out the order forms and scrounging up the money from reluctant porents might not op- pear very exciting. But when one realizes that this is the beginning of the end — the end of high school — it becomes anything but dull.

It's Finally Over

Every senior has spent twelve long and laboring years waiting for this point of his life. The last few months before graduation were spent waiting for college acceptances and enjoying the last years of high school. For some graduation from high school was only one more step toward their final goal in life. For others it was the closing of all books and the end of school forever. It was a giant step for everyone. Each and everyone of us will remember for a lifetime the sound of our names ringing through the stadium while parents and friends cheered. This year has been one to remember and one filled with activities and memories — things that will be part of us for the rest of our lives. But the biggest memory of all is standing on the platform in the long blue robe with the mortarboard balanced on the top of your head and having Mr. Jackson hand you that all important piece of paper, your diploma. That is what it was all for, to graduate with Robert E. Lee's class of 1977.

Class of '78

The class of '78 surged forward with Lorry Shepherd, the vice president, assuming the responsibilities of president, and J.J. Daniels appointed public relations officer. The class was involved in many Junior year activities — winning the pepstick, cowshoes and boke soles. Many juniors participated in Homecoming Week activities — the Powderpuff game, spirit links, Junior Dress-up day, hall decorations, and a second prize float. The familiar face of Ziggy took on special significance as he was elected class symbol early in the year. The highlight of the year, the Prom, was held in April in the cafeteria. Finally, with the arrival of rings, the class paused to look back on the past 3 years and forward to 1978-79 — the year of the Lancer.

Those Terrible Tests

Like every other junior class, the class of '78 was faced with a battery of tests to be taken. The pages of little ovals that were to be "completely blackened with a No. 2 soft lead pencil" never seemed to end. They were enough to make you cross-eyed! All juniors took the mandatory SRA tests given by the state that got them out of their morning classes for a few days. Many took the PSAT's (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test) which is optional but highly recommended for college bound students. This test was only an inkling of what the SAT's would be like, and some juniors took SAT's (Scholastic Aptitude Tests) for the first of several times. While the SRA tests got juniors out of class the PSAT's and SAT's got them out of bed at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday mornings. These tests were not only difficult but they were extremely important especially if the college you wanted to apply to had minimum score requirements.

Ziggy

This was the year the class of '78 picked its symbol. The choice of the Junior class for its symbol was Tom Wilson's "Ziggy," "America's Favorite Loser." Ziggy has appeared on posters, candles, greeting cards, calendars, and in a daily comic strip. He represents the class of '78 because, although he does not always succeed at everything he attempts, he never stops trying.

Class Rings

A long wait accompanied the long lines to order class rings in mid-December. Finally the Juniors received their rings, and soon revived was the tradition of turning one's ring, 77 times one way, the 78th on graduation day. The rings were chosen with great care and attention so that each student would have what he considered the perfect ring.

Home Sweet Home

The class of '78 adjusted to their environment "Junior Hall" for the year. At any time during the year the hall was to be seen in various degrees of decoration ranging from Homecoming to forgotten books, tennis shoes, and remains of a locker decorated for a birthday or by a secret pal. Between classes doors would swing open to reveal slogans and clippings such as "I'M SURE" or "FLY ME." Once the bell rang the doors would shut to conceal the contents until later.

Elections '76

The year 1976 may be remembered as the year of the election. It was no small surprise that, along with Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Barbara Walters and the making of "King Kong," it was one of the most publicized subjects around. There was unmistakable enthusiasm at Lee, with students working for candidates in both the presidential and local races. It was not unusual to see notebooks and lockers plastered with stickers promoting a favorite candidate. Even the undecided were swept up in the torrential current of interest. Most history and government classes spent days discussing the election. The discussion was definitely not confined to these classes alone, because the politically active students helped the Jimmy Carter — Gerald Ford contest find its way into the economics, English, and science classes, where lively discussions side-tracked both teachers and students. Talk was especially lively on the mornings following the "great debates." Now that it is all over, however, everyone has become a true patriot and given his support to our new president, Jimmy Carter.

Class of '79

Joe Rogan, President

Greg North, Vice-President

Starting the year off on the right foot the class of '79 sponsored a car wash, and working toward their ultimate goal of a well stocked treasury for their graduation year, they planned many activities. Their spirit continued to remain high as they worked on their homecoming preparation in October.

With the class trip to King's Dominion rapidly approaching and their treasury still short, the students once again rallied to the call and held a candle sale which helped a little.

In the end the class of '79 ended their sophomore year on top assured that it would be a long time before they forgot it and looking forward to their next two years at Lee High School.

Tests, Tests, Tests

Even with graduation still two and a half years off the members of the class of '79 were urged to plan ahead toward college and careers. Schedule planning for their junior and senior years became important in order to make sure that all the needed classes could be taken. In October many sophomores took the PSAT's (Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests). The scores from these tests were used in qualifying for the National Merit Scholarships. Parents, teachers, and counselors began asking which colleges students were interested in and prodding them at least to think about what they wanted to do after graduation. Grades started becoming a major concern since class ranking and grade-point averages were based solely on them. Little by little sophomores began to realize that the spring of 1979, and graduation weren't very far away.

Where Are the Jobs?

In the next decade the supply of college graduates will far outstrip the demand

by Phyllis Franck & Annette Kornblum

The problem of finding jobs for college graduates is not new. It has been around for decades. But now, it is becoming a crisis. The supply of college graduates is far outstripping the demand for jobs. This is true in almost every field. The only exception is in the field of education, where the demand for teachers is still high.

One reason for this is that many people are getting out of college and looking for jobs. They are not looking for jobs that require a degree. They are looking for jobs that require a high school diploma. This is a mistake. A high school diploma is not enough to get a good job. A college degree is needed.

$$$ Jobs $$$

As the year started the majority of sophomores were 15 years old. Many begged and pleaded with doubting parents to be allowed to join the work force as soon as their sixteenth birthday finally arrived. With each visit to the Mall more and more sophomores were seen behind the counters of the department stores as well as in the restaurants, shops, stockrooms, and dishrooms all over Springfield. Great expectations to become independantly wealthy overnight were shared by all. The "small deductions" for Social Security, federal, state, and local taxes jarred everyone back into reality.

Getting the Keys

With the magic age of 15 years and 8 months the majority of sophomores made one of the biggest steps toward independence and freedom. They received their Learner's Permit which allowed them to drive a car when accompanied by a licensed driver.

The first stage of the process the students went through to get the all important driver's license was passing the classroom course. During the class' nine-week period a representative from the Division of Motor Vehicles came and tested the students. At the end of this course all students received forms stating that they had passed; that enabled them to take the next step, the Behind-the Wheel course. The final step of the learning stage came when students actually learned how to drive a car. On the day of their 16th birthday many sophomores went to the Division of Motor Vehicles and took the test for their driver's licenses. Passing this test gave them their licenses.

Homecoming

As part of the homecoming activities the hall decorations always played a big part in tying everything together for the week. Once the homecoming theme had been selected the sophomores got together to come up with the designs for their class halls and their float. With this year's theme being the "Wild, Wild West" the class of '79 fashioned their float as a tiger tied to the tracks of an oncoming train and entitled it "Lancers Train the Tigers." The whole class came out to help decorate the halls. The artists and all the many helping hands produced a hall filled with cowboy hats, boots, cactuses, and lots of brightly colored crepe paper and posters. Everyone had fun and agreed that this was a homecoming the class of '79 would long remember.

When the members of the class of '79 look back on their sophomore year, they will cherish the memories of the fun they had this year.

The sophomore year was also the hardest for many. For guys there was the problem of doting. Asking a girl out and then having your father or older brother drive was often too embarrassing to be endured. Some girls wanted to go out with older guys who had cars. Then there were also parents who said that their daughters were too young to date or who didn't approve of older boys. Many girls even had curfew and strict rules to live by. At any rate sophomores could take comfort in the fact that it couldn't last forever.

Class of '80

Renee Landry, Vice-President

The freshmen class this year was a very spirited and active class. Homecoming turned out to be a success; the hall decorations tied for second and the float won third. They had bake sales, car-washes and various candy sales. For Valentine's Day they sold Valentine-o-grams and flowers. They sponsored dances and did very well at pep rallies, winning the pep stick many times.

Impressions

The first day of school for freshmen is usually pretty hectic. The class of '80 was no different. General confusion and problems of all sorts were experienced. When freshmen were asked what their first day of school was like, there was a wide variety of answers. Here's what some replied:

"it's not big and scary"
"it was very peaceful"
"I was scared and lost"
"lots of people"
"it seemed pretty cute"
"crowded"
"I was hoping I wouldn't get beaten up"
"better than Key"
"what am I gonna do?"
"I got lost about 50 times"
"it was cool"
"scary"

Our First

After spending much time preparing the float, hall decorations, and costumes the week of the first homecoming for Lee's freshman class finally arrived. Class spirit started to grow and freshman took an active part in many of the activities. For the first time since the election of their officers the class could participate as a group. Like every class before them, the class of '80 had high hopes of their float winning first place. Whether it was the spirit at the game, the pep rally, the fallies, or some other activity the class of '80 got together and displayed homecoming spirit.

Freshman Spirit Never Fails

School spirit is something which tends to wear off after a few years, but to the freshmen it was something new. Many found that to their surprise they really cared whether or not the Lancers won on Friday nights. They had an outlet for their zeal and enthusiasm other than their classes. Their school spirit grew from the start of the first pep-rally and continued to grow with every cheer, game and activity throughout the year. There were plenty of opportunities for the freshmen to show the world and all of Fairfax County they came from Lee. They had their own athletic teams and cheerleaders to spur their enthusiasm on, and at several pep-rallies the class of '80 showed they were proud to be Lee Lancers by their loud shouts and cheers.

Classes

Most freshmen discovered this year that the classes at Lee were different from those at Key or any elementary school. At Lee they learned that deadlines and due dates were strict, and getting an extension was no easy task. There was more homework, and teachers did not give students class time to do it in. Teachers did not always announce tests a week in advance and they gave "pop" quizzes with no warning at all. Everything you did was graded and even your homework was checked regularly and graded. Freshmen learned that they had to work to get grades, and "A's" weren't as easy to get as they had once been. The members of the class of '80 learned to accept responsibility and quickly settled down to form good study habits which would be valuable in the future. School wasn't just fun and games and schoolwork was serious business. Competition became keen and good grades became goals that you had to strive hard for and kept striving for without letting up for a moment. The freshmen began to learn how important school was and what doing well in school meant for their future.

Making New Friends

In the first few weeks of school at Lee all freshmen experienced a feeling of insecurity to one degree or another. Many parents patiently listened to complaints from their freshmen about a lack of companionship. The problem began solving itself as students became more at ease in their classes and gained confidence in themselves. There were many activities in the fall where the incoming freshmen could meet each other and participate as members of Lee's student body. Once friends had been made everything started to fall into place and the year's activities and functions began to start up. By October the freshmen were feeling much more at home and were as much a part of Lee as any of the other three classes.

The Lee Lancers started the 1976 football season with high hopes and a new head coach. Under the leadership of their tri-captains, Pat "Moses" Hannigan, Brian "Kong" Lenhoff, and Mike "Mac" McClellan, the team worked with endless spirit. In spite of some very discouraging first halves, the Lancers held all but one of their opponents scoreless in the second halves of their games. The Lancer team had many good football players with eleven receiving awards and honors for their accomplishments. They had the essential ingredients for a strong team but lacked a forceful scoring ability. In spite of a less than successful record the team played well together. Led by rising juniors who gained valuable playing time this season, the Lancers show great promise for the 1977 season.

Lancer players who received awards for their performances during the season were:

- John Alexander — All-District Honorable Mention
- Tim Begley — All-District 1st team
- Randy Best — Outstanding Lineman, All-District 2nd team
- Ken Breeden — Outstanding Sportsmanship Award
- Bill Cushman — All-District Honorable Mention
- Mike Dishner — Outstanding Runningback, Coaches' Trophy, All-District 2nd team
- Greg Dowd — All-District Honorable Mention
- Pat Hannigan — All-District 1st team
- Brian Lenhoff — Most Valuable Player, Outstanding Defensive Player, All-District 1st team
- Craig Lucas — All-Regional 2nd team, All-District 1st team
- Mike McClellan — All-District Honorable Mention

Jim Powell, one of the senior members of the Cross Country Team, runs Edison's course.

A young group of two Sophomores, three Juniors, and two Seniors made up the Varsity Squad. This team enjoyed a successful year with the best performance being the Georgetown University Varsity "B" Race Championships. The record in dual meets was 4-2 and the team placed in the top ten of all Invitationals in which it competed.

Co-Captains Stuart Copon and Jim Powell provided good leadership and were examples of hard working athletes. Jud Springer, one of the best sophomores in the state, placed fourth in our district, twelfth in the region and sixteenth in the State Meet. Mark Springfield was our only senior in the top five and will be sorely missed. We expect to get help next year from Brian Kilchrist, Mark Romos, and other promising sophomores.

The girls' tennis team finished their season by placing third in their district. They had a season record of 8 wins and 4 losses. Coached by Miss Arduini the girls played well, and Dawn Dentan, Maureen Gallagher, and Debbie Kilchrist each advanced to the district tournament where Maureen placed fourth. The two top double teams of Maureen Gallagher and Dawn Dentan and Debbie Kilchrist and Amy Ellertson also represented Lee in the District tournament. Dawn and Maureen placed second in this tournament and advanced to the regional tournament.

Coming off the best season in the school's history, preseason hopes for the Lancers were high. The experienced seniors formed the backbone of the team with All-Regional guard Jay Atchinson heading the list. Other standouts were David Gould, Alec McCulloch, Bill Renner and Mike Niehoff. The senior members of the team had a four year record of 76 and 11. The team finished the regular season with a 19-1 record and went to the tournament first in the district. The team's real test came in the regional tournament when they were matched against T.C. Williams. Coach Dean said, "This has been one of the most enjoyable years of my coaching career."

The girls' gymnastics team ended the season finishing in 2nd place with a 4-2 record. Laura Mills finished 1st in the district on uneven bars and was selected for the All-District team. Cathy Jellison filled in a solid 2nd in all meets, placing 4th in the district tournament. Maureen Ostinata did a fine job on the unevens, filling in the 3rd place spot toward the end of the season. Wendy Crump, Lee's all-around, held 4th in bars for the Lancers, and the Mills and Jellison team kept Lee undefeated in bars. Rannie Eggleston finished 5th in the district in vaulting. Wendy Crump will be returning next year to lead the team on to an even finer season.

The Lee High School wrestling team had an overall good season. Poul Lokie, Tom Rowden, and Darrell Jones returned from last year's varsity team and were joined by nine new wrestlers. The '76-'77 co-captains were Tam Rowden and Scott Forbes. Some of Lee's wrestlers did very well individually. Tom Rowden had a regular season record of 11-1-0 and received first place in district competition. Ken Booe also finished first in districts with a regular season record of 6-5-0. Paul Lokie finished second in districts, Darrell Jones finished third, and Jomoe Ahmed and Dan Gallagher finished in fourth place. These wrestlers represented Lee in the regional competition. The team's overall record for the season was 4-8-0.

Jud Springer wins 1st place in the 2 mile event at the CYO Track Meet

The Indoor Track team was hampered by the severe winter weather and lack of practice space inside the building. Several young men promise a bright future for track at Lee. Sophomore Jud Springer and junior Scott Meeks represented Lee at the state meet in the 2-mile and mile events respectively. Dean Maddox will return next year to be the district favorite in the 600. Nate Perry was the team's leading scorer, excelling in the high jump, triple jump, long jump, and short sprints. The team will return next year confident of a good season.

Rifle Team

The 1976-77 Rifle team had a great season. In mid-February their record stood at 8-1, the only loss being Woodsan High School. The team broke the 1125 point school record once with a score of 1130 and again with 1134 points out of a possible 1200.

Karen Long, a junior, was Lee's highest individual shooter. She was joined by Shelle Anti, Susan Dake, Sue Olsen, Steve Stuckey, John Castagnola, and Craig Ulrich. Susan Dake was the only senior member, so the team will have a very strong and experienced group of experts returning next year.

The team had practices at Libbey Range, Fort Belvoir, and Quantica Marine Base. The team and the Rifle Club are affiliated with the National Rifle Association and part of the 13 team Northern Virginia Scholastic Rifle League.

The team coaches for the 1976-77 team were Cal. Jim Varnell and Mr. Eugene Dake, who willingly gave of their free time and expertise to make this year's team the best Lee has ever had.

For the Lee High School swim team, coached by Mr. Guiles, this year was one of personal victories and a number of near wins. The thirty-four team participants swam against schools with as many as sixty and seventy members. The team decided to continue anyway trying their best. Using this year as a learning season, the team members are prepared for the next season. John Alexander took third place in the district diving competition.

Joe Buonviri, one of the senior members of the baseball team, gives the ball a good hit!

The 1977 Lancer diamondmen looked to the season with cautious optimism after a disappointing 10-10 finish in 1976. Although the varsity had 10 returning lettermen, they were seriously challenged by six promising rookies up from the JV's, a Frosh and a first year junior. Alec McCulloch, a potential pro-draftee, headed the mound crew with Mike Fox, Billy Cushman, and Pinky Hodges rounding out the staff. Right handed swingers Bill Renner and Mike Dishner as well as lefty Jim Pfister ignited the Lancer offense. The infield was anchored by Joe Buonviri and Eddie Morton, with rookies Tommy Carroll, Jim Youngblood, Joe Trabucco, and Dave Lowe challenged them for the three starting positions. Patrolling the outfield was the ever fleet Rich Flaherty, in center, Bill Duffy, Jeff Herriman, and Mark Stuart. All in all, it was a promising season for the relatively young Lancer nine.

The girls' track team takes a warm up lap before practice.

Liz, Debbie and Renee complete their final lap.

Sue Olsen makes a quick start.

The girls' track team got off to an early start this year with several returning starters from last year's team. With lots of hard work this team will be strong with many new faces. Outstanding returners and new starters will be Joan Matson, Liz Egger, Lisa Love, Renee Landry and Linda Cooke. The team has been fortunate in securing a new assistant coach Mrs. Zinsser, who coached in Germany.

All our good times...

our fun times, our happy times, our sunny days, but our victorious times are what we will remember about our years at college.
Future historians of our experiences, our triumphs, and our love will look to the memories of this day, year and time, and be the best of our memories. We will write up to them, through time, and be the best of our love for all and are reports to us.
